Preparation, timing, teamwork.

Successful fund management, like success on the river, doesn't just happen. It takes rigorous preparation, instinctive timing and a shared vision to stay ahead. Which is why all of our investments are backed by rigorous, team-based research and a shared vision to build high-performing funds. We believe this gives investors the best opportunity to have a place in the top boat.

The value of investments can fall as well as rise and you may not get back the amount originally invested. If you are unsure about the suitability of an investment please consult an authorised financial adviser.

This year's Summer Eights programme is the fifth to be produced as an official OURCs publication and I'd like to thank a number of people who helped in its creation. In particular; Becky Lane for providing me with last years template, Jet Photographic for the use of their photos, numerous Pembrokians for their proof reading and OURCs for having the crewlists on the website in such an easily copiable format.

Also to Ben Bronselaer and all others who contributed photos. This programme would be quite blank without their help.

Finally thanks to the college captains and squad presidents for providing details of their committees and crews in reasonable time and Scott Houghton for the OURCs report. This programme could not have been produced without their input.

Good luck to all the crews racing this week and my appreciation goes out to OURCs and all of the marshals, umpires, launch drivers, boatmen, rowers, coaches and coxes for making such a wonderful event happen yet again.

Watching Eights

Perhaps one of the most exciting forms of racing; the aim of bumps is to hit the boat starting ahead of you on the river and as a result, take their place on the following day. If it becomes too unsafe (or a swan gets in the way) races will be klaxoned and called off. Keep track of everyone's progress with the DIY bumps charts on the next double spread and listen out for results announced over the tannoy after each division.

Timings (provisional)

(Note all divisions are an hour earlier on Saturday; except Mens VI & VII and Womens VI which are an hour and five minutes early)

Glossary

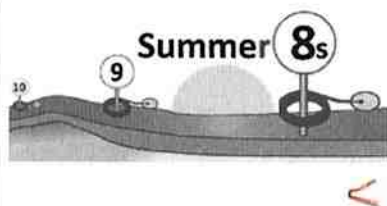

Bump - when a boat catches the one in front and makes contact with it, or the coxswain of the boat in front concedes in order to avoid damage to people and equipment. Alternatively, a bump is awarded if a crew fully overtakes the crew in front. Two crews involved in a bump switch places in the start order for the next day's racing.

Headship - being the highest placed crew on the river (i.e. Bungline 1, Division 1), with no one ahead to bump.

Blades - a crew wins blades by bumping the crew ahead on each of the 4 days.

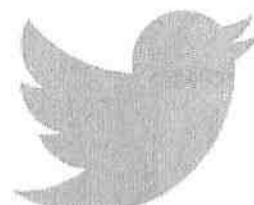

Spoons - a crew is assigned 'spoons' if they are bumped on each of the 4 days.

Summer Eights Rules

Bumps racing can be very confusing when you are new to it, so here is a small summary of the main rules to explain how it all works.

For more information visit www.ourcs.org.uk/rules/a

Eights shall consist of 7 men's divisions and 6 women's divisions, with the top 5 men's divisions and the top 4 women's divisions designated "Fixed Divisions", and the remainder "Rowing On Divisions".

The starting order shall be the finishing order of the previous year's Fixed Divisions.

Divisions shall consist of 13 boats, plus the "Sandwich Boat", except for the bottom division, which shall consist of 14 boats.

The boat that finishes first in each division may row as "Sandwich Boat" at the bottom of the division above in the same day's racing.

Each boat shall be started from a rope 50 feet in length, held by the coxswain, with the other end of the rope fastened to a post on the tow path. The distance between each starting post shall be 130 feet.

Not less than 5 minutes before the start of the division, the Senior Umpire shall order the firing of the 'Five Minute Gun'. 4 minutes later, or later if safety dictates, the Senior Umpire shall order the firing of the 'One Minute Gun'. 1 minute later, another gun shall be fired to signal the start.

On achieving a bump, a boat ceases to be part of a race, and the boat bumped also ceases to be part of the race.

A boat shall be liable to be bumped until every part of it has crossed the finishing line.

A brief history of bumps racing in Oxford

The details of collegiate rowing's origins in Oxford are lost in the mists of time, but the sport seems to have become popular by the end of the eighteenth century as a form of friendly recreation.

The first Summer Eights racing is thought to have occurred in 1815, a few months before the battle of Waterloo, when crews from Brasenose and Jesus decided to race home from Iffley Lock. Brasenose won, making them the first official 'Head of the River' crew. The competition became annual, racing from Iffley Lock to a finish line on Christ Church Meadow, marked by a flagpole on Isaac King's barge moored at the meadows bank.

By 1826 four colleges were involved and had devised bumping rules, the order of flags on the King's Barge flagpole indicating which crews had swapped places between race days. More colleges joined, and it was normal practice, in those days before academic league tables, for the crews to row down to Sandford in the afternoon. They would spend a while playing skittles or doing gymnastics, before rowing upstream again, with practice bursts in the stretch between Sandford and Iffley locks, to race one division. All racing stopped behind any crews which bumped, only those ahead continuing to try and achieve their own bump. Race days were interspersed with rest days, so the whole event spread out over a week.

In 1840, after high winds the previous year had disrupted racing, the current three-cannon starting system was put in place, and the 14 colleges then involved began the practice of 'bumping out' to the opposite bank, so that boats behind could carry on racing past them. By this time a parallel event, 'Torpids', had already started for second crews, initially on the days between 'Eights' racing, though in 1852 it moved to the spring term.

Meanwhile 'Eights' was becoming longer and longer, on the principle that enough racing days should occur for every boat, even that starting bottom, to be able to reach the Headship. Eventually a maximum of 8 days racing was decreed, and over time this has dropped to four.

During the 1870s the 20 or so colleges competing became split into two divisions, each crew starting 130 feet from the one behind it.

By 1908 the entry was expanded to allow second crews into Eights, and after a gap of six years for the first world war (1914-1919) racing resumed in 1920 with increasing popularity. More divisions were added, and in the early 1930s the 'Getting On Races' (now 'Rowing On') were devised to determine which crews should occupy the final slots. The formal event was again suspended for war (1939-1945), although informal bumps-style races were held, and in 1946 the event was revived using the 1939 starting order.

Although women's rowing had existed at the university since the 1920s, and some women rowed in men's crews, there were no solely women's crews in Summer Eights until St Hilda's women entered the 1969 event by successfully rowing on and competing against the men. After the all-male undergraduate colleges started admitting women during the mid-1970s, a women's division was created in 1976, with Wadham ending the first year as Head of the River. The balance of divisions between the sexes has now almost evened out, and women have been coxing men's crews, and vice-versa, for many years.

That isn't the only change in the last century. We now use carbon fibre boats and oars instead of wooden ones, wear cotton lycra 'all-in-ones' instead of shorts and shirts (or bloomers for the women), and in this electronic age, racing is photographed, timed, videoed, commented on and tweeted to the world. The format, however, still has much in common with those early-nineteenth century races, even if the equipment looks very different.

(With grateful thanks to Anu Dudhia, whose 'History of Oxford College Rowing', remains the definitive guide to all things Isis-rowing-related, and was the major source for this article, written in previous years)

This year marks another successful campaign for the Oxford University Boat Club. Under the guidance of Sean Bowden and Andy Nelder, the Blue Boat and Isis won all of their pre race fixtures setting themselves as clear favorites. Both crews handled the pressure and rowed their best for The Boat Race. The total winning margin of 24 lengths for both crews was a tremendous reward for all the rowers, coaches and support team who had worked so hard and with such unity.

I knew in September that this year was going to be a special one for OUBC. We returned four oarsmen from both the 2013 Blue Boat and the Isis Crew which gave us a strong foundation to build our campaign. In our first race of the year, Four's Head, our top Four beat Cambridge and a Leander Crew full of World Champions by almost a minute, going on to win the pennant in the Elite Coxed Four. December was a difficult month for the squad, with flooding forcing us to train at Caversham and illness forcing us to delay Trial Eights until the New Year. Luckily everyone's health improved and we were able to all attend our team training camp in Davos, Switzerland. Outside of our comfort zone on Cross-Country skis, there was always a competitive atmosphere with everyone pushing to be in the top group each day.

We were back on the water for our training camp in Temple Sur Lot in the New Year. The standard of rowing was high and the camp was excellent. We had a quick turnaround when we returned to England with Trial Eights only a week away. We put together two solid crews that showed good speed. The names Persistent and Stubborn were chosen in memory of the late Harvard coach Harry Parker, who coached myself, Sam O'Connor and Mike DiSanto. The trial eights itself was everything a President would wish for his squad. A hard fought contest, where the lead changed several times and the crews still level ten minutes into the race.

After the trial eights, we had two solid weeks of training before the start of selection. Once the first rounds of seat racing was finished, the provisional Blue Boat had its first official fixture against a German U23 National Team Crew, winning both pieces in convincing fashion. Two weeks later, we beat a Leander crew full of World Champions. The final test before the boat race was against a strong Molesey crew that we beat by just under a length. Isis also raced tough opponents in their fixtures, beating every crew they faced.

Our victory in the 2014 Boat Race and Isis Goldie Race was a product of our hard work and determination from the first day of training. I would like to thank our coaches, support team, and especially our supporters in our respective Colleges that made this year possible.

This year has been a very successful one for the Oxford University Women's Boat Club. We started the season with a lot of momentum from our work last year, and this helped us post some great results early on, performing well at the Head of the Charles regatta in Boston, USA, as well as having several of the top women's crews at the Four's Head. This was also our first year racing Trial Eights on the Tideway course, an amazing opportunity for our coxes and athletes alike, and which produced a ferociously fought and exciting race. As we continue to improve our boat speed year on year, we were lucky to be challenged by some very fast crews in our match racing, which this year included an Olympic 'veterans' boat including Katherine Grainger and Anna Watkins, as well as the Leander Boat Club top women's eight. This preparation put the Blue Boat and Osiris in great stead for the Boat Race, the last one for the whole squad at Henley, where we proved our speed against Cambridge; Osiris winning by half a length, and the Blue Boat by 4 lengths. It has been a fantastic season, and one that we fully intend to carry on throughout the summer, at the Metropolitan and Henley Women's regattas.

We are also continuing to run our Emerging Talent Group for new athletes interested in joining our team; there will be many training sessions and the potential for racing opportunities throughout this term, please get in touch with Natasha Townsend (natasha.townsend@sport.ox.ac.uk) for more information.

It's true the season did not finish as we would've hoped, and that despite our best efforts, we lost our boat race in Henley on Thames to CULRC. This will be the result that most outsiders will judge our season on, and I suppose rightly so, as that's the nature of Oxbridge rowing. However, we can take many positives from our season as a whole.

Training got off to a good start in September and through Michaelmas, with a large contingent from our development squad joining a couple of returners from the 2013 Nephthys crew. The good weather enabled us to split our twice daily training sessions between the Wallingford stretch and the Iffley road gym, meaning we were well prepared for our 12 day training camp in Nantes, France. Despite constant wind and rain the squad made significant improvements on the water, thanks to having the opportunity to do over 30k of mileage/day. We returned to the UK to find the Wallingford boathouse underwater and Dorney lake as our new base, indefinitely. This was a frustrating blow, but the only thing to do was to continue to train as hard as we could, get as much water time as possible, and learn to love the gym.

At the end of Hilary both Nephthys and the Blue Boat travelled to Amsterdam to take place in the Heineken Roievierkamp, competing in four races over two days against strong international competition. This was a particular highlight for Nephthys as the flooding prevented their racing at HoRR the weekend after. From here the Blue Boat and a Nephthys 4- remained in the Netherlands for a gloriously sunny and productive training camp, heading back to the UK in time for a week in Henley pre-boat race. The Granta 4- who had agreed to race a Nephthys 4- unfortunately had to withdraw due to injury, but the crew rowed over the Henley reach anyway, in an impressive time. Despite not performing in the Boat Race, my two seasons at OULRC and my Presidency this year have been without doubt the most rewarding thing I could have pursued at Oxford. I'd like to take a quick moment to thank Bodo Schulenburg, our coach, for all that he puts into OULRC. Also to Andy Saul who'll be taking the reigns next year. Good luck on the river this week Oxford, and I hope we'll see many of you at our dev squad on Monday.

Dev Squad:

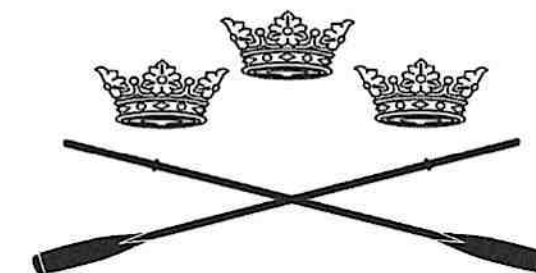

Join us for the OULRC dev squad this year, starting on 2nd June (this Monday) and running for just under 6 weeks.

Getting involved you'll receive: quality coaching, invaluable training in small boats and solid race experience at Kingston Regatta or, for the more experienced of you, possibly with our returners in the Temple Cup at Henley Royal Regatta.

If you are a Cox then WE WANT YOU. Any Cox joining us for Dev Squad would gain invaluable experience coxing on a different stretch of water, race experience and would also have a very real chance to cox next year's Lightweight Blue Boat.

If you're lightweight now (or even weigh up to 80kg) be sure to contact our incoming president Andy Saul at president@oulrc.org for more information.

Alternatively visit our website www.oulrc.org or search for us on facebook/twitter.

The Oxford University Women's Lightweight Rowing Club has had a fantastic season. The Blue Boat beat Cambridge by 3 and a 1/2 lengths at the Henley Boat Races, and the 2nd boat, Tethys were 48th at Women's Eights Head of the River, moving up 12 places on last years ranking in a hugely competitive field.

The successes didn't stop at the Boat Race and the weekend of the 3rd May saw more than half of the squad racing at BUCS regatta in Nottingham. We took away bronze in the Lightweight Eight, silver in the Intermediate Lightweight Single and silver in the Lightweight Quad. A very promising start to our summer racing season.

Looking back at the year and our list of successes on the water, it's easy to forget the weeks of extra ergs and trips to Eton Dorney as a result of the Hilary deluges. Following competitive Trial Eights in December, with 'Have your cake' losing by just half a length to 'Eat it too', the whole squad got a taste for Henley. The race on the 30th of March lived up to all expectations.

This year has been a phenomenal success and a huge amount of fun. I feel extremely privileged to have shared it with such a fantastic squad. I know no group so talented, dedicated and passionate and it has been a pleasure to work with you all. The last 8 months have unfolded, and we as athletes have developed under the watchful, attentive and expert eye of our Head Coach Chris O'Hara, and assistant coaches Doug Bruce and Toby Reinecke. Special thanks go to these three along with Nanda Pirie our Senior member, our sponsors KPMG and the Oxford Cheese Company and everyone else who has helped us this year.

This years' Boat Race win was the 3rd in a row for OUWLRC, and puts us just one win away from equalling the scoreboard with Cambridge next year. I'm so excited to watch where and how the club will develop in the next 12 months and beyond. Best of luck to all crews racing this week, particularly those with Dark Blue members...

Development squad

Our Development Squad will commence in 6th week of Trinity term, immediately following Summer Eights. It is a great opportunity to take your rowing or coxing further and participate in summer racing.

To find out more about our Development Squad or Trialling next year please contact:

Oxford University Rowing Clubs OURCs

Summer Eights represents the culmination of a year of hard work for the entire Oxford rowing community. It has been an extremely tough year, with flooding leading to the loss of an entire term of training, as well as the cancellation of Torpids. Nevertheless, Summer Eights should once again provide an excellent proving ground for all crews, and I predict that the lack of training last term could lead to some close racing.

Of course it would not be possible to run the events we do without the fantastic support of Neptune Investment Management. Their input helps to keep the entry fees for competitors down, whilst at the same time enabling us to make our events safer. On the side of safety, I would like to give a massive thank you to our senior umpires for taking responsibility for the event, and to Epione Medical Services for once again providing us with superb first aid cover. I would also like to take this opportunity to thank the rest of the OURCs committee whose hard work makes all this possible. In particular I would like to thank the Bernard Tao, Henry Renninson, Stefany Wragg, Michael Pontikos for all the support and advice I have received.

Finally, I would like to thank the clubs for their cooperation through the year, and wish all competitors the best of luck in their racing.

ROWING BLAZERS

JACK CARLSON

Rowing Blazers is the monumental new book about the sport's most colorful tradition - featuring Oxford's college and university boat clubs and many familiar Oxford faces.

You are cordially invited to the book's Oxford launch party (more information at the link below).

A portion of the book's proceeds will go to your college boat club of choice when you order here:

Guide to the college blades

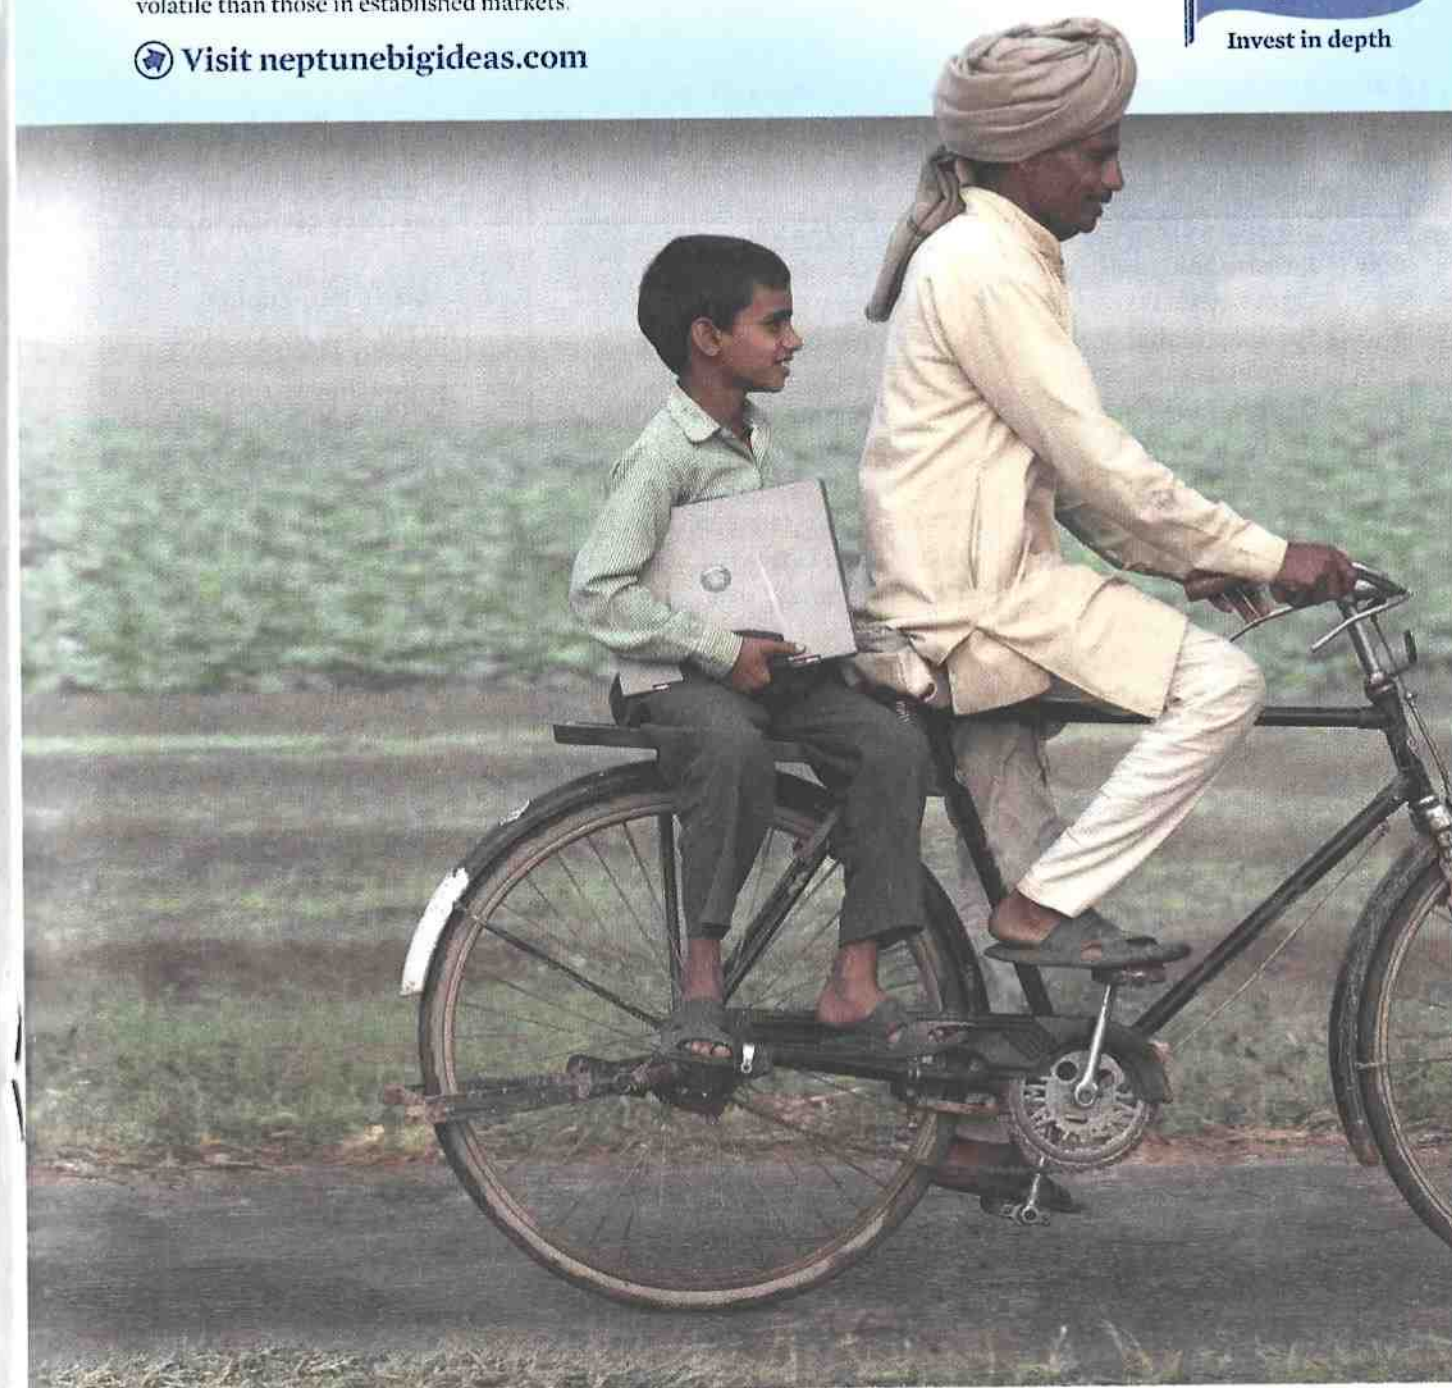

Who will build the next Silicon Valley?

At Neptune, our fund managers are always looking to invest in the next big idea. By analysing global themes and industries we believe we can find the most promising companies.

The value of an investment can fall as well as rise and you may not get back the amount originally invested. Investments in emerging markets are higher risk and potentially more volatile than those in established markets.

"As ever, the Boat Club continues to thrive this year and we are exceptionally grateful to a number of people. DLA Piper and Blackrock have so generously funded all our endeavours throughout and allowed us to lay firm foundations for the future, whilst the tireless and ever-enthusiastic help of Peter Bond has, as ever, been exceptionally welcome. Pete is the life force behind this boat club - spending much of his time and energy to ensure Regent's remains competitive on the river, and we cannot thank him enough for all he's done."
